FOREWORD

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
SHREVEPORT, LOUISIANA

Shreveport's modern history dates back to 1833, when Captain Henry Miller Shreve first gave his name to our city. Captain Shreve was given the almost impossible task of clearing the 165-mile "Great Raft" which jammed Red River from one bank to the other. The operation took several years to complete, but almost 1,000 miles of the River were successfully opened to navigation.

Captain Shreve reported to Washington: "Flourishing cotton plantations are now located along the banks of the Red River. There has also a town sprung up equal in population and surpassing any on Red River in amount of business transactions." He was referring, of course, to the city of Shreveport.

Thus was Shreveport founded by the Shreve Town Company on a site purchased from Larkin Edwards for $5,000. In 1839 Shreveport was incorporated under a charter granted by the State Legislature. The Federal census in 1850 showed the population to be 1,728 residents of the City of Shreveport.

Today, river trade which gave Shreveport its beginning, is no longer a factor in our economy, though just recently the Interstate Commerce Commission gave approval for the operation of barge lines on Red River, and may soon be a factor in our economy.

Shreveport is now known as "The Pipeline Capital of the World" and is increasingly important to the nation's natural gas and oil production. One-fifth of the nation's resources of petroleum, a greater normal reserve of natural gas than any other comparable area in the world, and a wide diversification of industry are responsible for the increasing population and industrialization of our city.

While agriculture, commerce, and industry is all important to the economic growth of any city, this alone is not sufficient. Here in Shreveport our people throughout the years have worked for the educational, cultural and spiritual growth of our community. This is evidenced by our fine school system, headed by Centenary College, by our great and beautiful churches throughout our city, and by the many cultural advantages offered to the people throughout this area. The finest and most often repeated compliment concerning Shreveport is "Shreveport is a good place to live and rear a family."

Recognition by WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES means that the student was, first, officially recommended by the college or university he attends and then, accepted by the organization. College juniors, seniors, and graduate students are eligible for nomination. Selection of nominees is conducted by campus committees and usually involves student-faculty-administrative participation. Nominating committees are requested to consider the student's scholarship, leadership, citizenship, and promise of future usefulness.

The Student Senate of Centenary college has the power to govern, regulate, and otherwise control all student affairs and social functions as defined in the Senate Rules and subject to the general college regulations and actions by the Committee of Student Affairs. The Student Senate is composed of 13 members and 3 faculty advisors. The five major officers are elected by the entire student body. A boy and girl are elected by the independent students as their representatives. The sororities and fraternities elect a member through Panhellenic and Interfraternity organizations respectively. The presidents of each class become members of the Senate immediately after their election. Each year the Student Senate sponsors a "Howdy Dance," Homecoming, Student Fair, and Founders Day.

1961/62 PLAYBILL

of the

JONGLEURS

The Centenary College Speech and Drama Department

Centenary's student dramatic organization, created in September, 1960, draws upon the French and theatrical heritage of Louisiana for its name. Out of the dark ages came what the French called "Les Jongleurs"—minstrels, poets, actors, entertainers—bringing with them magic, mystery and romance. Harbingers of a renaissance in the theater, the Jongleurs created delight wherever they ventured.

Symbol of The Jongleurs of Centenary is a stock character of the 15th century, Cucurucu. He struts on the cover of the playbill of the Jongleurs. He is a familiar sight at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse.

The purpose of this organization is "to present dramas of imaginative, artistic calibre . . . acquainting the campus and community with their theatrical heritage; to afford opportunity for students to awaken in themselves their own creative sensibilities . . . to provide a diversified dramatic programme."

Orlin Corey, head of the drama and speech department and director of the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse has developed originality and talent in this year's productions. Mr. Corey, a graduate of Baylor, has done advanced study in London and Paris and has been director of plays at Kentucky Mountain Theatre Association. Corey's production of the The Book of Job is now a successful New York hit. Two former Centenary students, Bob and Marty Shy are currently in this production. Corey's play received excellent reviews.

Irene Corey designs both sets and costumes for her husband's plays. She is a graduate of Baylor, majoring in art and drama. She continued her art studies in Paris under Reynold and Martha Arnold. Her superior talent was especially evident in Reynard the Fox.

THE CRUCIBLE

by Arthur Miller

NOV. 9-18 Except Sunday

MARJORIE LYONS PLAYHOUSE UN 1-7231

The Crucible, a play by Arthur Miller, is a powerful drama, accurately depicting one of the most frightening incidents in American history, the witch trials of Salem, Mass. The Jongleurs' production sought to create the murky mood of a terrible dream. A living wall of witnesses surrounds the awful action. Authentic American Colonial costume of the late seventeenth century is the only touch of visible reality permitted. The rest is turbulence—cries, glimpses of terror, anguished faces, shadow shapes of the victims and accusers, pitiable in perspective.

By Orlin Corey

Jennie Nutt, Patt Byrd, Louella Bains, Bonnie Henry, Paul-ette James, the girls of Salem whose hysteria launched the witch scare.

The moment when Elizabeth Proctor out of love, lied to save her husband, but unintentionally sent him to the gallows in the climax of the Salem trials.

Randy Tallman, Barry Hope, Jennie Nutt. Jennie is denouncing people she saw with the devil.

Moment when John Proctor chose between a false statement which would lead to freedom, and his integrity, which led to "Gallows Hill" half an hour later.

Bonnie Henry, Grace Jackson, Joe Graber learn that they are incriminated in the Salem trial.

Mary Lou Russell, Jerry Mitchell, Sylvia Cardwell bound for "Gallows Hill" and then death.

Reynard the Fox, Randy Tallman; John Broadus, Wable the Lion; Allen Shaffer, Brun the Bear; Hal Prosky, and Tiecelein the Crow, Ruthanne Cozine.

A satire on the humorous activity of the animal characters from classic French fables. The design stems from the director's concept that this staged fable is a play about animals, whose counterparts are to be found in the human race. The characters were made to become animals in make-up and costume rather than people.

Reynard stands in the vanguard of a noble tradition, older than all civilizations. Born centuries ago in medieval France, he has survived the ravages of time without dimming his keen eye or dulling his shrewd wit. His appearance in the atomic age is a notable boost to optimism. As long as Reynard runs the earth, his white-tipped tail snapping in the wind, ready for any prank regardless of danger, the world is really right-side-up.

"Vespers in the forest" with the Rev. Epinard the porcupine—Bob Harmon.

Reynard leads the dogs a merry chase.

"Ysengrin the Wolf," John Broadus. "Lendore the Marmot," Sylvia Cardwell.

Hunting dogs—the beginning and the end!

"Reynard at the end of his rope?"

"And that's for you, Reynard"

The animal kingdom.

"Oops! My cheese!"

The Winter's Tale

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

MARCH 20 - 24 — 26 - 31

A story of time, of eternal change, from life to death and new life again, as seen in the life of a jealous king . . . a tale "of good and bad, that makes and unfolds error."

King Leontes of Sicily, whose jealous vision engulfs Queen, children, and court in an inferno of chaos.

Time is the storyteller of the Winter's Tale who weaves the spell of ephemeral harmony imagined by Shakespeare.

The moment of miracle when the wronged Queen, Hermoine, is restored to life in the presence of Perdita and Florizel.

A SLEEP OF PRISONERS

by Christopher Fry

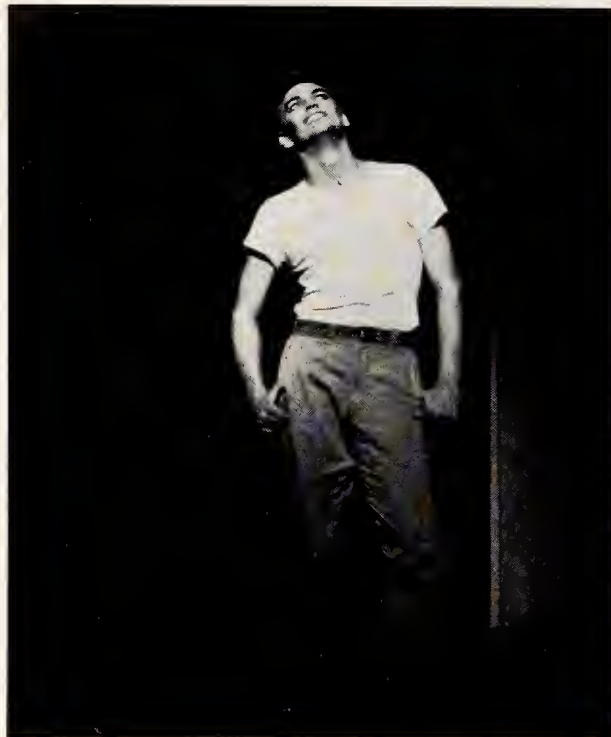

FEB. 8, 10, 12, 17

MARJORIE LYONS PLAYHOUSE

Through the dreams of four soldiers imprisoned in a wartorn church Mr. Fry explores in modern terms the strength and meaning contained in four great Biblical stories: Cain and Abel, David and Absalom, Abraham and Isaac, and the three in the fiery furnace. The skillful mixture of violent action and creative thoughtfulness, Biblical story and modern paradox, and religious truth answering the secular need for understanding makes the drama "splendid, magnificent, and alive!"

by Joe Graber

"Do you think I care?" Absalom's attitude to his father, King David.

Tension runs high on. four soldiers imprisoned in a church. Don Farley, Hal Prosky, Marshall Oglesby, and Dick Jones.

"The enterprise is exploration into God—where are you making for?"

Abraham is halted by an angel in his sacrifice of Isaac.

Modern application of an ancient story. The traditional conflict between Cain and Abel.

Marshall Oglesby in a dramatic soliloquy.

"The Miser," Molière's comic masterpiece of rascality and farce, concluded the first season of The Jongleurs. This production of avarice sought to recreate the spirit of folly and wise laughter residing within the play. Style of playing, design, direction, and decor flow from that quality. For Molière the act of comedy is to excite laughter which is a prelude to reflection. The play has the range of comic characters that is most notable: for here are the most memorable of hypocrites, humbugs, quacks, and snobs in all theater literature.

John Broadus and Virginia Bobbitt

Molière's great comic types do not change in the sweep of events. Situations serve only to illuminate their psychology. This is perfectly logical. A reformed and generous Harpagon is unthinkable. Foibles or small vices may yield to the influence of circumstances. But the great psychological lesions like avarice or hypocrisy, which never heal, are only revealed by action.

THE BOOK OF JOB

George Bryan

It was with great pleasure and a little pride that the Speech and Drama Department announced the opening of Orlin Corey's "The Book of Job" in New York City. Adapted by Mr. Corey from the King James translation of the Biblical story and designed by Irene Corey, this play has had a long and tempestuous history. Since its premier in Georgetown, Kentucky, four and a half years ago it has increasingly achieved recognition both here and abroad. The play was given a successful European tour which included the Brussels World's Fair and has played for three summer seasons at the outdoor theater in Pineville, Kentucky. Many Centenary College students have had roles in the summer company including: Virginia Bobbitt, James Foster, Don Farley, Hal Proske, and George Bryan.

Norman Young
Richardson, Tex.

Suzanne Young
Shreveport

An aerial photograph of a city, likely New Orleans, showing a river (the Mississippi River) on the left, a bridge (the Crescent City Connection) crossing the river, and a dense urban area with many buildings and trees. The text of the poem is overlaid on the image.

ALMA MATER

(Words by James Church Alvord)

Where the sleepy, silver bayou
Gleams among the pines,
Watching o'er the throbbing city
Alma Mater shines.

(Chorus)

Forward, forward, Centenary—
Time and tide may fail,
But our hearts shall love thee ever—
Centenary, Hail.

Like a wave the mighty city
Surges 'round thy feet.
Guide it, train it, teach it wisdom,
Alma Mater Sweet.

(Chorus)

Green the boughs that rustle 'round thee
On thy stately crest;
Greener is our mem'ry of thee—
Alma Mater blest.

(Chorus)

An aerial photograph of a city, likely Yoncopin, serves as the background for the page. The image shows a dense urban area with various buildings, streets, and green spaces. A large white rectangular box is superimposed over the center of the image, containing the title and several paragraphs of text.

IN APPRECIATION . . .

As the last pages go to press and the staff breathes a sigh of relief, the editor pauses to take stock of the work and figure out how it was finished on time. It occurs to us that many people, on and off campus, have played an important role in the production of the 1962 Yoncopin.

Without the staff members who survived the rush for deadlines, the editor's jittery nerves and worried consultations, this book would not be in the reader's hands. So thanks, staff—for the many unpaid hours you spent planning pictures and layout, typing and drawing up pages.

To those students and faculty members who posed (endlessly it seems) for me, I say thanks. I do appreciate the graceful endurance of photo sittings, scheduling of group pictures, occasional missed appointments, and the retakes necessary in the course of the year.

A special thanks is due to the Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas and its representative, Fred Elsing. To George Shorter of Shorter's Studio and Ben Kinel of Kinel's Studio for having pictures when I needed them even though it was at times inconvenient for them.

It is the editor's hope that these people will be satisfied with the 1962 Yoncopin, because their efforts have made the book what it is.
